FEATURE-LENGTH COMMERCIALS

Despite rulings by the F.C.C., sponsors are going to great lengths to make their commercials the same way—in great lengths. Commercials are getting so long, a few of them are even replacing some TV spectaculars. Normally, we would object. But, since the shows of this present TV season are bigger bombs than any produced at Los Alamos, we wouldn't mind seeing feature-length commercials replace the pitiful programs of this seedy season. Let's face it. The plots of even the Alka-Seltzer commercial are better than Gomer Pyle. 4

MADISON AVENUE IN HISTORY

If Madison Avenue and their sick slogans existed throughout history, then those ancient sponsors would have had no trouble moving their stale products off the shelf. For example, Ben-Hur and his Rent-A-Chariot Service. "Let Ben Put You In The Driver's Seat!" Or, Greyhound could tell Hannibal to forget the elephants, "And leave the driving to us!" 10

SICK FIRST-AID BOOKLET

No, this isn't a medical pamphlet to help you to recover from reading Sick. It's our handy guide to aid you in getting over the shock of your hospital bill 15

LATE, LATE, LATE SHOW

These programs are aptly named, as almost all the actors have passed away. The stories are just as dead, and if there ever was any life left in them, our Sick writers took care of that in our traditional movie spoof 27

THE HIPPIE SCENE

Sick takes you behind the Hippie scene to where it's really at: a guy with long, uncombed hair, a six week growth of beard, a body unwashed for months, crying a refusal to go to work, rejecting everything handed out by society, except unemployment checks. Where this is at is in the editor's bedroom, when he gets up in the morning. 22-33

FEATURE LENGTH COMMERCIALS

Commercials are growing longer and longer. Movies are being cut more and more to make room. If the current trend continues, within three years you can expect feature length commercials, with brief interruptions from the movies. You can look forward to seeing such films as:

THE CASE OF SCHAEFERS A courtroom drama about a man who committed the crime of having only one!

Scene: A Courtroom

Script by Bob Heit

Art by Bill Kresse

A CLEANSER CALLED COMET

The story of a cleanser that killed household germs in cold blood, and how it reformed.

And for killing household germs, Comet, I sentence you to 10 years at hard labor!

Scene: PRISON BATH ROOM. COMET IS CLEANING OUT SINK FILLED TO THE BRIM WITH DIRT.

And for the heroic effort you made in uncovering the concealed weapons, thereby foiling Mr. Clean's escape plot, the State is granting you a pardon!

MARLBORO COUNTRY

The story of a romance between two chain-smokers,
and its tragic ending.

STORM WINDOW

The story of a brave little storm window that stood valiantly against a terrible storm, even after the rest of the house had blown away.

A DAY WITH DIAL

Jim Atkins at the SICK SCENE

A first for SICK magazine! This columnist wrote a joke on the Alan Burke Show on WNEW-TV. I was promoting more humor in politics (as nation's Humor Lobbyist) and the Big Beard asked me to tell him a joke. I said I wasn't very runny. (I'd been on for about five minutes and Burke said: "Yeeees, I've noticed that"). But, I told Burke, I'd be glad to write a joke. So, he told me to sit down and do it.

I did. And the joke I wrote (a TV first) was as follows:

"George Wallace is the only presidential candidate ever to be kissed by the governor of Alabama... in public."

Burke said "that is a clever joke." He didn't laugh, but when Burke says anything nice that is news. I explained how joke-writers decide who will be elected president. They do this by writing jokes about the candidates they don't like, making them look silly, so they lose. (For example: Joke writers said that Tom Dewey looked like the man on the top of the wedding cake. This made him look silly, and so the people voted for Truman.)

A nudist candidate is running for president. His slogan is: "I have nothing to hide." He doesn't even hide his hide. (Nudity is only skin deep.) Actually, when you see someone wearing clothes, you never know, do you? Could be a nudist in disguise.

I've just received a great honor. The National Bartenders Association is going to name a hangover after me.

CORONET magazine says that a neat wolf is one who picks up everything in sight. (See, when I steal a good one I give credit.)

A towel manufacturer found that he was getting wiped out. His towels kept disappearing. (One thing, towel thieves don't have sticky fingers.) Police moved in and found a ring stealing towels. The man arrested said he stole about 4,000 towels a week, sold them at $15 a thousand. I guess you could say, he really cleaned up.

Elmer Porash (my garbage man) says he's had a tough life. He was doing some freelance plumbing and a sink fell on his head. Naturally, that would be a drain on anyone.

New diet, according to Columnist Robert Sylvester: You don't eat, just drink. You get so nervous, you shake the fat off.

A cannibal asked the cook what was for dinner. Said the cook: "Two old maids." The cannibal: "Ugh! Leftovers again."

I found out why Bobby Kennedy has such long hair. He said he doesn't have enough money for a haircut... A diet is for people who are thick and tired of it... Actually, I was talking about Senator Kennedy's hair. He has trouble sleeping at night. The curlers keep him awake... Actually, he's been making a lot of speeches... He's been filling the air with his speeches, and vice versa.

ADVERTISING. Well, Advertising is the art of making people think they have longed all their lives for something you've just invented.

FROM ANOTHER PUBLICATION The Wall Street Journal reports it spotted a slogan on an exterminator's truck which said: "We make your ants say 'uncle'". (The WSJ scoops the New York Times again.)

INSIDER'S NEWSLETTER LET US DOWN DEPT. We've been hurt many times. But you must expect this if you are writing about our society in a humorous way. First we found out that Oral Roberts takes aspirin. We found out that "The Saturday Review" comes out on Monday. Then, we read the "Insider's Newsletter" so we'd really be on the inside, and we thought we were. But the editors at the "Insider's Newsletter" got scooped on the story that the publication was folding. Before it was folded, the IN said that a device for measuring the influence of TV commercials (It is installed on the top of a set and takes pictures of viewers) has often shown a vacant room. (Actually, here's a scoop from SICK: The pictures of the viewers had a higher rating than the show they were watching.)

MITZI GAYNOR DEPT. I haven't mentioned Mitzi Gaynor in some time and I see no reason to do it at this time... Actually she told me exclusively that if you will only drink one glass of milk every morning for 1,200 months, you'll live to be 100 years old.

I asked some college students what they thought of LSD. And they said they thought he was the greatest president we've ever had.

Personally, I'm for Bobby Baker for president. Then everyone will have a lot of money, nobody will know where it came from, and you won't have to pay taxes on it.

If you become a middle-of-the-roader in politics you are apt to have trouble on the one hand and also on the other.

SICKCERELY YOURS..

Why don't you stick with your anti-Australia campaign and don't start on Rhode Island. I just read your "Supposes..." section in your issue No. 55. One can sympathize with those kangaroos, frogs, and bulls because of the awful state they are in—like they're not happening. Maybe Rhode Island is small, but it's quality that counts, not quantity. I mean don't mess with the best 'cause you lie with the rest.

I'd like a whole herd of pen pals, preferably females. I'm 16, 5'11", have brown hair, eyes and ingrown toenails.

Arthur Moore
32 Ralston Street
Providence, R.I. 02904

Ed: We hope you get letters from Australia.

I think that Sick has improved tremendously for the past six issues... and that your artists: The Professor, Bob Taylor, Al Scaduto, B. Wiseman, Thumbtack, Torres and Tuska and the writers whom they illustrate, are to be credited for your SICK being now a more "loose" more entertaining magazine than that "Number One"... and that additional shade (red or blue) has

WHICH MEANS:
MALE YANKEES,
GO HOME!
AMERICAN GIRLS,
STAY FOREVER!

It's unbelievable!—Governor Wallace dancing with Rap Brown!

sure made SICK the first cartoon-satire mag. to undergo this colorful change. Congratulations.

About a letter you had from Todos Santos, Baja California Sur, MEXICO: Mexicans have a great interest in learning English but for more useful purposes than that of calling you names... like, for instance: flirting and dating the thousands of beautiful American girls and women who come down here during the summer vacations.

Antonio J. Espinosa
P. O. Box: 43

Ed: Remember the Alamo, Antonio?

GREAT SCENES FROM THE Late, Late, Late Show

by B. Wiseman

The Indians have spotted the small wagon train and are waiting till dawn to make their attack. The hero, Drek Mudson speaks:

1.)

Save th' last bullet,
Sally-Ann. You-all
unnerstan'?

2.)

THE WAGON TRAIN IS WIPED OUT! EVERY MAN GONE...

4.)

5.)

So, Sally-Ann raises the gun...

7.)

8.)

NOSE BLEEDS

CAUSES:

Being punched out. Diving into a pool with no water. Picking too hard.

SYMPTOMS:

Red stuff coming out of your nose.

TREATMENT:

Hold person upside down to allow blood to run back in head. Then plug up nostrils with two marbles. If victim panics, place foot on his throat till he calms down. If bleeding persists, tie a tourniquet around the neck. Bleeding, along with breathing, will stop shortly.

SPLINTERS

CAUSES: Sliding down a telegraph pole nude. Eating a club sandwich and not removing the toothpicks.

SYMPTOMS: Wood sticking in your body.

TREATMENT: Burn them out by setting the wood on fire. Or push them further in in hopes they'll float away in your blood stream.

FAINTING

CAUSES: Rock-and-roll singers. Spendthrift wives. Perspiration problems.

SYMPTOMS: Victim lying on his face. Pupils are missing from eyes.

TREATMENT: Kick in side to see if he's faking. If victim is not faking, massage face with smelling salts. If this fails to revive victim, grab by ankles and dunk in toilet.

FROSTBITE

CAUSES: Changing light bulb in refrigerator with door closed. Sitting in front row watching Doctor Zhivago.

SYMPTOMS: Blue body and victim is spitting ice cubes.

TREATMENT: Preheat oven to 450 degrees, stick victim in. Then turn to section of this book for treatment of burns.

STINGS

CAUSE: Drinking honey from a beehive.

SYMPTOMS: Mucho lumps.

TREATMENT: None. Next time use a straw.

WOUNDS

CAUSES: Rumbles. Sitting on pitchforks. Losing at Russian Roulette.

SYMPTOMS: Holes all over your body and they smart.

TREATMENT: Stick finger in wound to feel how deep it is. If you can't hit bottom, it's serious.

When you've determined size of injury, fill wound with sawdust and cover with scotch tape.

SHOCK

CAUSES: Electric chair. Playing weekend electrician.

SYMPTOMS: Eyes are as big as half dollars, mouth is wide open, and your hair is smoking.

TREATMENT: Call MURRAY HILL 7-4900, that's the undertaker.

ANIMAL BITES

CAUSE: Date at drive-in.

SYMPTOMS: Hickeys or passion bites on neck.

TREATMENT: Wash neck immediately with nitric acid to remove animal saliva. If animal escapes notify proper authorities (Health Dept., his parents, his wife, his scoutmaster, etc.).

MORE ANIMAL BITES

CAUSE: Vampires.

SYMPTOMS: Two small puncture marks on neck.

TREATMENT: None. Stay clear of victims because victim is now a vampire and you might wind up with two small puncture marks on your neck.

BURNS

CAUSE: Drinking a molotov cocktail and then smoking.

SYMPTOMS: People are roasting marshmallows on you.

TREATMENT: If victim is a Buddhist Monk, drop ashes in tea.

SCALDS

CAUSE: Main course of a cannibal dinner.

SYMPTOMS: The cook is putting parsley around you and an apple is stuck in your mouth.

TREATMENT: Pray the cannibals are vegetarians.

POISONING

CAUSES:

Wife or husband wanting out of their marriage. Wife's cooking.

SYMPTOMS:

Stomach ache, then nausea, then rigor mortis.

TREATMENT:

Punch in stomach to induce vomiting, or mix up an Ex Lax milkshake. After stomach is empty, give victim mushroom and jello or candied squid brain to settle stomach. If person has swallowed kerosene or gasoline, look in mouth with lighted match to see if victim is gagging.

CAUTION: Stand clear of flying teeth.

PREPARING TO SAVE A LIFE: People who have taken an overdose of pills.

If someone has taken an overdose of sleeping pills, try to keep them awake by singing to them. Recommended songs are, "Brahm's Lullaby," "Mr. Sandman," or "Meet Me Tonight In Dreamland." If you don't have a singing voice, read to them: stories like The Three Pigs, Snow White, and Little Red Riding Hood. If this doesn't work (You'll be able to tell because the victim will be snoring) rip out eyelids.

PEOPLE COMMITTING SUICIDE BY JUMPING:

If you encounter someone trying to commit suicide by jumping off a bridge, building, cliff, Volkswagen, etc., try to talk to victim. Shout words of encouragement like, "I double dare you," "Chicken," "Gutless!" "Yellow!" It would also be a good idea to sing to them (Ode To Billy Joe, Going to Meet Your Maker). If person jumps, shout, "FORE" and "COMING THROUGH," to people below.

PEOPLE JUMPING FROM BURNING BUILDINGS:

Always hold hoop where person is jumping. Also it would be a good idea to get someone to hold the other end. Keep away from one-hand catches and always hold the hoop at least two inches above the ground.

DROWNING:

When diving to save a drowning person, the first thing you must ask yourself is if you can swim. If you can swim you have to make a quick decision as to which method you will use to have the victim. If you cannot swim you have no decisions to make because you're going straight to the bottom. The only thing you can do is stick your hand out of the water and yell louder than the other guy. It wouldn't be a bad idea to recite a few of your favorite prayers and maybe another idiot might try to save you.

CLAS SICK FRIENDS

I am a U.S. Navy Man who is stationed aboard the USS FLETCHER in Pearl Harbor and I would like to receive any letters from girls 17-23 years old. I am 20, 5 feet 10 inches tall, have brown hair and brown eyes and love women. CS3 Alan Harms 914 59 95, USS Fletcher DD 445, Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

I would be glad to correspond with any and all servicemen, or anybody who would like to write. I'm sort of "everybody's big sister." Anybody who needs a friend or a shoulder to cry on, feel free to call on me. Elym Rose, 15951 Harden Circle, Southfield, Mich. 48075

I'm a 17 year old boy, 6'1, dark hair, brown eyes, loves cars. I would like to have girl and boy pen pals. Thanks a gillion—send a picture and I'll do the same. Don Aquilar, 1000 North Concho, Winters, Texas 79567

I am 15 years old, 5'10" tall, with long dark hair. Would like to have female pen pals from the ages 13-16. I like to read but not school books. I love to dance, play the guitar, and water-ski. I will answer all letters. Write to Steve Burnett, 2612 Renick Street, St. Joseph, Missouri

I'm 15, with auburn (not carrot!) hair. Blue (if I'm happy), grey (if I'm sad), green (if I'm angry) eyes. I love boys, reading, boys, having fun, boys, and being mad, boys, parties and boys. I'll try and write to everyone. (at their own risk!) I'd like to see a photo and I don't mind if girls do write, but I'd rather boys did. Kathy J. Arcus, 275 Rangiuuru Rd., New Zealand

I'd luv to have a girl pen pal. My name is Randall Kacer, 18, 6' tall, a freshman in college. If any girl would like a boy pen pal that matches the above, I'm available. If you have something else in mind I have a friend Henry Sasser. He is 17, 5'8", 150 pounds, blond hair and blue eyes. He likes fast cars and judo and football. Write to: Randall Kacer, 1229 Albany Ave., Brooklyn, N.Y. 11203. Henry Sasser, 4006 Clarendon Road, Brooklyn N.Y. 11203

THE WIDEST "TRIP" I EVER HAD

A Frank Hallucination
by
Frank Hallucination

Man, I've had some bad trips before. Real freakouts. But, like, this one made up for them. This time out I had the wildest, the coolest, the grooviest trip I ever had! Like, I dug scenes I never dug before. I touched things I never imagined possible. I smelled smells that you wouldn't believe!

Everywhere there were floral colors. Loud, shrieking, shocking colors. All sorts of wild purples, weird violets and out-of-sight chartreuses. Nothing was drab. The clothing on people I saw shone out in fantastic conglamorrations of weird designs and shapes.

I heard strange sounds, unlike any I had ever heard before. All sorts of eerie noises—clanging noises, honking noises, screeching noises. From the rooftops I could hear human voices calling out to one another in a strange, bird-like language that was foreign to my ears. It was fantastic!

And I experienced strange, haunting, mysterious odors. Unbelievable odors. Like nothing I had ever smelled before. Each aroma had a different mixture of pungent fragrances that took my breath away.

HIPPIE of the week

Each object that I turned on to was weird and frantic. It was like a whole new world had opened up for me. It was something I had never experienced before on any of my trips. It was something I never even thought possible, not even in my wildest hallucinations. It was just unbelievable, I tell you!

And are you ready for the payoff? I wasn't even on LSD! This was a REAL trip I went on—to the BRONX!!

HIPPIES ON THEIR WAY UP

WALLY THE WEIRDO, PROPHET-MESSIAH, BIG SUR VALLEY

This cat is easy to spot as he wears a live albatross around his neck. Also he has a picture of his chest tatoed on his wrist. A hippie with class, he's the first one to smoke marijuana in a pipe. Each night he injects alcohol into his armpits so that he can get stinkin' drunk! He once led a riot in his jockey shorts. His last public appearance was running amok thru a love-in at the park, shouting "We Shall Overcome!" Small wonder that Wally is a little neurotic. He was weaned on falsies!

EUSTACIA GROTT, TEENY BOPPER, BERKELEY CAMPUS

Started taking LSD when she was two. At five she was a professional flower girl. When she was fifteen her parents ran away from home! A real swinger, she's taken so many LSD sugar cubes that she gets hallucinations that she has diabetes.

MONK TWEEDLEY, ROCK 'N' ROLLER, ON THE ROAD

Leader of a Group called "Rag Weed & The Turnons," his thing is that he plays the sitar with his toes. He also doubles on the slush pump. Not a trombone, but a slush pump. This he blows with one lip. He hits notes so high that only other hippies can hear them. A wild composer, he arranges Buddhist Chants into folk-rock tempo. He is also a deep meditator. He has expanded his mind so much that he now wears a size 14 hat. His future plans are to take LSD ice cubes so that he can take a trip to Antarctica!

Hippie Fashions

A GUIDE TO WHAT THEY'RE WEARING

OPEN-TOED COMBAT BOOTS

Just the thing for formal occasions, like demonstrations and peace marches—when you don't want to walk around barefoot. Comes in matching two-piece set, or can be worn as two irregular items. Available in all sizes, shapes and conditions. A convenient use, they can be folded up and placed in your hair when not in use. A must for the dashing hippie-about-town, you can't afford to meet your Nirvana without them!

MINI-TOGA FOR MEN

The latest thing in chic wearing apparel, this exquisite creation comes in three different colors—white, black and dirty. Made from choice imported potato sacks, it features a lining of store awnings. Ideal to wear at the next Love-In. They'll want to rip it right off your back!

ACCESSORIES FOR EVENING WEAR

A large assortment of fashionable items to carry with you as you roam the countryside. Will give you that air of distinction. Very "in" items like a copy of Thoreau's Walden, a hockey puck, a beanbag, old movie posters that you can paste on your back and many other groovy things. Ideal for the hippie who has everything!

The INQUIRING HIPPIE

QUESTION: What is it about society that made you turn on, tune in and drop out?

(ask of various hippies walking barefoot thru an alley near Haight-Ashbury)

by Waldo Hemlock

CLYDE WHIMPLEY
Detroit, Mich.

Apathy, baby, apathy! That's what turned me off. It's the indifference you find in, society that made me drop out. Nobody cares what happens to the other guy. People just sit around and let the whole scene go by without trying to do anything about it. That's the big hang-up and it still bugs me. That's why I spend all of my time alone on a mountain top meditating about it!

LANCE GLOCKENSPIEL
Toledo, Ohio

The whole scene is nowhere, baby. Just phony! The people in it aren't real. They can't meet life head-on so they escape in their jobs, their cars, their TV sets and all the other hang-ups. Since they can't stand up to Nature they need a crutch. I don't groove people who are always trying to escape, people who can't make it on their own. It really bugs me. I can't stand it. That's why I take so many LSD trips. To get away—you know what I mean, man?

A COMPLETE FLOWER BOUQUET —FOR YOUR HEAD

Not artificial—the real thing. Ensemble consists of 8 Morning Glories, 6 Shrunken Violets, 5 Water Lillies, 3 Weeping Willows, 2 Marigolds, 1 Popacotapetil and the leaves from a dozen Brussel Sprouts. Makes your whole head light up. Walk in the rain and you'll soon feel ten-feet tall. Can be worn for riots, during meditation periods or just a plain old-fashioned orgy. Comes with string to tie around your neck so that it won't come off when the fuzz cart you bodily off to jail for wearing it!

FELIX CRATCHMIRE

Chicago, Ill.

The crowds, Baby! Like, I couldn't groove the crowds. Everywhere I went there were mobs of people. For everything I had to stand in line. It got so I couldn't walk the streets without bumping into somebody. Man, there are just too many heads out there for me to come on properly. And I'm not the only cat who feels this way. Ask the 18 other hippies who share my pad!

Today's Recipe

Each day we will publish the best recipe for a brand new dish submitted by a Hippie reader. This month's entry is from Pula Kinlal of Big Sur:

- 1 teaspoonful LSD
- 2 fingers Mescaline
- 1/2 pound Hashish
- 3 eyedroppers undiluted Heroin
- a puff of marijuana smoke
- 2 pinches Opium
- 3 leaves plain grass

Mix well, then stir wildly until you get a foam at the top. Not on the dish—on YOU! Then let it simmer down, sprinkle it liberally with poppy seeds, add a dash of STP and stamp on it with your bare feet.

What is this brand new dish? It's real far out and groovy. It's called "MOM'S APPLE PIE!"

TODAY'S GROOVY "THING"

A new "thing" today is owning your own squirrel as a pet. If you want to get in on this groovy new kick, you have to catch one first. The best way to do this is to climb up a tree and act like a nut!

Yes, Very Youthful Viewers, once again Sick's late, late movie reviewer has stayed up past his bedtime to review some of the classic motion pictures that are shown late at night between deodorant commercials and used car pitchmen. Next issue we'll review the deodorant commercials.

Two of the pictures to be discussed here are on so late that up until now, they've only been seen by milkmen and cat burglars.

The films which will now pass before your very eyes, include CONFESSION OF AN OPIUM EATER, THE BACHELOR PARTY, SEX KITTENS GO TO COLLEGE, HOUSE OF BAMBOO, OCEAN'S ELEVEN and NOT AS A STRANGER.

MOVIE CLASSICS

by Bill Majeski

CONFESSIONS OF AN OPIUM EATER... This picture, produced and directed by Albert Zugsmith, was based on a classic tale written in 1822 by Thomas De Quincey. The filming started four years after the book was finished, but there were many difficulties, chiefly because the camera wasn't invented then.

It features hallucinations described by De Quincey while under treatment for neuralgia. His doctor was Albert Zugsmith. De Quincey's great flights of verbal fancy is considered a great work of art, according to many critics, including Albert Zugsmith.

Vincent Price stars, stepping into the lead role from his numerous horror films. His latest was "I Was a Body Snatcher in a Wax Museum."

Also starring are Linda Ho, Richard Loo, June Kim and Philip Ahn, and so far the film hasn't been recognized by the United Nations.

The picture was given its official preview in the author's birthplace, De Quincy, Massachusetts, owned and operated by Albert Zugsmith.

THE BACHELOR PARTY depicts a night in the life of a young New York bachelor, who is about to get married. On this night, he meets all sorts of freaks, weirdos, boozers, drifters, loud-mouths and clowns. Then he leaves the office and goes out on the town.

On his rounds with his beer-drinking buddies, Don meets Carolyn Jones, who kisses first and asks questions later. She is a pretty fast kid, but Murray decides he doesn't have to keep up with the Jones.

Moral of the story apparently is: "Rich, or poor, if you're going to be married, it's good to have a wife."

Albert Zugsmith was the... oh, no, that was the last picture.

SEX KITTENS GO TO COLLEGE—Another Albert Zugsmith product, which should be a great boost for Otto Preminger fans everywhere!

Zugsmith has done it again, this time turning to a campus locale; the campus of Locale University, where Mamie Van Doren has received a four-year scholarship for exotic dancing. She went to college so she could be near baseball players. She's always been a diamond fan. Also rubies, emeralds and other gems.

Albert Zugsmith rounded up an all-star cast for Sex Kittens, including Tuesday Weld, who finally decided to change her name. She was against changing it because her name was inscribed on all her calendars. Finally, under pressure from Albert Zugsmith, she changed it to Zugsmith Weld.

HOUSE OF BAMBOO—Robert Stack put aside his double-breasted suit* and switched to a happiness coat for this role in Japan. He plays a soldier-of-fortune type of guy and it's not his fault that he doesn't find a fortune. He doesn't even find a soldier. However, he does find Shirley Yamaguchi (who later changed her name to Tuesday Yamaguchi) and that's not bad. Miss Yamaguchi plays the role of a girl named Merica Mikoya, and you can see from the bathing scenes that she's the real Mikoya (Okay, wise guy, take two steps backward for that one).

Robert Ryan plays a killer, who, in addition to being a murderer, is nasty and impolite. Once he strangles a guard and mutters away from the camera, "Can't you take a little choke?"

*Which is now being worn by Albert Zugsmith.

OCEAN'S ELEVEN—The Rat Pack, as it was then called, starred in this movie of a grand million-dollar robbery in Las Vegas. Frank Sinatra, fresh from a roaring success in his film "The Kissing Bandit," plays Ocean, a robber-type. Among his teammates in crime are Sammy Davis Jr., who showed his appreciation by turning Jewish; Dean Martin, who showed his appreciation by mugging the Little Old Winemaker; Peter Lawford, who showed his appreciation by voting Republican, and Angie Dickinson, who showed her legs.

The picture ends on a surprise note. The haul from the robbery is burned along with the cremated body of a dead man (At least we hope he's dead, for his sake). This gave the picture a heart-warming ending. The picture was also unique in that it was about Las Vegas and Howard Hughes didn't buy it. He must have seen the rushes.

NOT AS A STRANGER is about the medical profession. When it was shown to a group of doctors, seventeen of them became lawyers. Robert Mitchum plays a small-town doctor and Olivia de Havilland plays a small-town doctor's small, small-town wife. It is a giant of a movie, however.

Doctor Mitchum, who has everyone in town on Medicare, is involved with strange romances and becomes forgetful. During his last operation, he left a sponge and scissors inside the patient. Then he really became upset—he couldn't find his golf clubs.

Also seen in order of their illnesses, Charles Bickford, Gloria Grahame, Frank Sinatra and Broderick Crawford. The picture was placed on the critical list, and can be seen only by members of the immediate family.

So You Want to Name a Group

New musical groups with strange-sounding names pop up everywhere every time you turn around (which should teach adults not to turn around). Now these groups all play the same kind of music, right down to the last flattened fifth or flattened head, whichever occurs first. The only difference is among the wild, way-out names.

With readers sending in ideas for new groups, SICK has become a receptacle (against our wishes) of all these titles. Herewith is the latest batch which fell onto our desk this morning. (The editor fell onto the desk shortly after.) These pictures are actual photographs taken by our personal photographer, Professor Actual.

Since the name is the important aspect of musical success today, if you have some suggestions, send them in to SICK and the good professor will round up a group of semi-professional musicians to fit the name, and take their picture. Your group name may send a group of youngsters on to fame and fortune. At least it will keep them off the streets.

Pictured here are:

This is a Himalayan group and is led by a Sherpa mountain guide. The group recently climbed the Alps, Mt. Washington and Wilt Chamberlain. Unfortunately they returned unscathed. The dog pictured is their mascot. He is looking for "His Master's Vice."

The BROTHERLESS MOTHERLESS

This group featuring mallets, steam whistles and the viola bastardas, records for the Sibling label. They are trying to hire Little Orphan Annie as vocalist, but Daddy Warbucks doesn't want her to drop out of obedience school.

The OUTBOUND WILDS

These people are all related to each other and they deserve it. They get together every Thanksgiving to eat and play their music. It was so bad the turkey got up and left. They are known alternately as "The Mamas and Papas Plus Three" or as "that rotten group."

Pop Effervescent is the leader of this group which records on the Burial Ground label. Their music is so bad even the elephants don't like to remember it. Some of the songs they play are "Don't Pack Your Trunk Over Me," "Nine, Ten, Elephant" and "Tusk, Tusk, It's Turning Dusk." They're awful.

The bad part about this group is that when they play music with a bite you don't get sleeping sickness. These three musicians are rejects from the jungle fever experimental station in deepest Africa. They died. This photograph was taken from memory shortly after the group played to fleeing room only at the Malaria Room in the Belgian Congo.

One of the latest from the health fad school of music, they play low-calorie stomps, wheat germ blues and sesame swing songs. They feature concertina, mandolins and buckwheat cakes without polysaturation. Poly Saturation is their vocalist, who unfortunately isn't seen. She died from an overdose of health foods.

SICKCERELY YOURS..

How's everything? Very sick I hope. I buy your magazines everytime a new issue comes up. I've become very sick, ever since I've started reading your nutty tactics, but I've become the happiest person ever in this whole sick, sick world. I'm in the army, and I hate it, but whenever I want to get away from it all, I just flip open a page of Sick and my mind is completely free from the army, and I become very sick and happy. I vow to you sick people that I will always be the loyalist buyer as well as a subscriber to the book that has made a new man out of me.

Ed: Sick!

I have the Nov. issue of Sick. You did a terrible thing on the Beatles. Why did you? I love them all. John Lennon with the round glasses, real long hair and animal fur on him—Why? Paul McCartney looks like a girl with long hair and animal fur. Ringo Starr looks ugly with long hair down his back and animal fur too. George Harrison! How could you? Why! He looks like a big eyed animal with fur and real long hair. I would like you to do something better, like a little story with the Beatles in it, please?

Susan Vallee
Bethel, Conn.

Ed: That was the best we could do, Susan.

We would appreciate your publishing our address in your magazine. We shall send the names of all Rhodesian and South African boys and girls to your readers who write us.

If you help us we'll be happy. If you don't we will still continue to read your publication as we find it to be hilarious.

We urge readers to appraise us of their age, gender and interests. A photo would also be helpful. Also appraise us of the nature of the pen-pal desired.

the SICK SCENE

POLITICAL. Robert Kennedy and Charles Percy are the best potential presidential candidates in the country today, because they have such a good command of humor. Both use humor well in their speeches.

You'll remember that the humor writers decide who is elected president, as the candidate who is the butt of the most jokes is always the loser.

FIGHT CITY HALL. George Q. Lewis, guiding hickey of the Humor Exchange Network, has called on his membership (several hundred comics and comedy writers) to write their Senators, Congressmen and Governors, calling for the Senate Labor and Public Welfare to make a Congressional investigation of the country's declining sense of humor. (Ah, come on George. Why don't you insure the Mayor of New York for $5,000?). Lewis (he wrote "Best Jokes of All Time & How To Tell Them") also has started "Read A Joke Week." He wants everyone to read a joke a day, hopefully from his book (This brings me to suggest that we have an "End To Special Weeks Week," or even "An End To Insuring Stuff With Lloyd's To Get Publicity Week." But, as Scatch Korsiv always used to say: "If you haven't knocked it, it must not be any good."

WMAL (A Washington, D. C. radio station) has a wild DJ named Jim Evans. He speaks his mind and still keeps his job, so he has to be good, right? Well, he says that if it weren't for 50 percent of the people, the other 50 percent would be all of them.

Dick West, who writes funny columns for United Press International, says the world's mixed metaphor championship goes to Fred V. Heinkel, head of the Midcontinent Farmers Association, who, in commenting on President Johnson reducing dairy imports, said: "We would have had milk running out of our ears if the President had not taken the bull by the horns." . . . (Dairy farmers do real well in Congress. That's because they have a lot of pull.)

FUN CITY ADS

In an effort to lure more tourist dollars to New York, jestingly referred to as Fun City, the city's Chamber of Commerce has launched a campaign extolling the joys and beauties of Gotham.

There are vivid descriptions of such famous sites as Grant's Tomb (where eight Groucho Marx contestants are buried), the Statue of Liberty, the Bronx Zoo, the ready room where New York school teachers are taught karate, etc. As in all come-on literature, only the good things are discussed.

We feel they should be a little more honest in their presentation. The other features of New York should be brought out and emphasized, so people will have a chance to learn what New York is really like.

Hi there, all you rubes out there in Stickville. Tired of being called a Yonkers Yokel? A Ridgfield Rube? Why not do what smarties all over the country are doing? Why not be a New Yorker?

Yes, send for our Be A New Yorker Kit today and receive the following:

Seven shirt collars encrusted with pollution from genuine bus exhaust.

A revised catalog of crude insults to be said to perfect strangers.

A year's supply of vulgar noises to be used on busy streets and in crowded places.

And, to equip you for your eventual trip to New York, we also offer the following —

In addition, as a bonus for quick action, we will send you a month's supply of drunks, stewbums and junkies who will block your doorway.

Act fast. Today! Write to: Be a New Yorker, Box 23, the Boulevard of Broken Dreams Station, New York City, together with your check for $197.50 — slightly higher west of John Lindsay.

And now, what if you don't have that $197.50? How do you get it? Simply be a New Yorker. Mug an elderly lady on West 88th Street and take her money! It's as easy as that.

And as a super double extra bonus, if you act super-double-extra-fast, we will send you a crack team of laborers who will tear up your very own street beyond repair and disappear forever!

Be a New Yorker — today!
